Being the best doesn't mean being the largest. It's a combination of a differentiating clinically relevant business model that adds client value while offering our employees the security of a stable, ever-growing company. It's no wonder that in a few short years BioReference Laboratories has grown to become one of the nation's largest diagnostic laboratories with subsidiaries that give us a global reach.

Our Campbell, California location, just outside of San Jose and in the heart of the Silicon Valley, is seeking Clinical Laboratory Scientists to provide patient testing services, quality procedures and reporting to physician offices, clinics, hospitals and other institutions. At BioReference, you'll enjoy a decidedly different approach to laboratory science by rotating on different clinical pathology benches such as hematology, coagulation, chemistry, special chemistry, molecular diagnostics, genetics and women's health, offering broad hands-on exposure to increase your skills and career prospects. Positions are available from 9PM-5:30AM and 5PM-1:30AM and require a BSMT or Bachelor's in Biological Sciences and California CLS license.

Get to know BioReference and what makes us the preferred choice of high level laboratory personnel.
